VOLUME XXXII

Foreword

It has long been the custom for the editors of university year-books to have a slight continuity in the collection of faces and facts which make up an annual by introducing a motif. We have been presumptuous enough to discard this idea in building this book, and have endeavored to make it concerned wholly with "Ole Miss." It is our hope that in so doing we have enhanced its value for the purpose for which it was intended:

to present the college year in an interesting manner, to catch and hold as a memorial for the future the things that will bring in the future happy memories of associations, activities, and achievements of the eightieth year of the University

Dedication

To the material expansion of the University and to the future power and greatness which such a growth makes possible for that intangible institution which we know lovingly as "Ole Miss," do we dedicate the thirty-second volume of the

Alma Mater

*Way down south in Mississippi, there's a spot that ever calls,
Where among the hills enfolded, stands old Alma Mater's halls,
Where the trees lift high their branches to the whisp'ring
Southern breeze,
There Ole Miss is calling, calling, to our hearts fond memories.*

*With united hearts we praise thee, all our loyalty is thine,
And we hail thee, Alma Mater, may thy light forever
shine;
May it brighter grow and brighter, and with deep affection true,
Our thoughts shall ever cluster 'round thee, dear old
Red and Blue.*

*May thy fame throughout the nation, through thy sons and daughters grow,
May thy name forever waken in our hearts a tender glow,
May thy counsel and thy spirit ever keep us one in this,
That our own shall be thine honor, now and ever, dear
Ole Miss.*

THROUGHOUT all its history, the University, as with similar institutions generally, has had an atmosphere, a spirit, a life all its own. It has ever been, and it is today, not so much a factory as it is a field, and not so much a field as it is a force. It is not a place where machinery works with dead material, but rather a place where living beings are in process of growth and development, where mental and moral forces are moulding character and shaping destinies both of individuals and of states.

It is confidently believed that the University is one of the state's greatest servants in building up and perpetuating all that is really worth while. Its province is to lead rather than to follow, and to serve rather than to rule. But in order to serve best, it must be most free—free to expand, to develop, to see visions, to breathe a clear, pure atmosphere, freed from the suffocating smoke of commercialism, and to live a life which, while in close and sympathetic touch with every interest of the state, is yet untouched by the mercenary spirit of the utilitarian extremist. Unhampered thus, it will prove more and more an invaluable power for the amelioration of unhappy conditions and a mighty force for the uplifting of the people.

CHANCELLOR HUNIE.

THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

By DEAN MILDNER

The College of Liberal Arts has had a long and honored record in the history of the state. Starting eighty years ago with eighty students, within twenty years it had achieved a national reputation. Under the leadership of such men as Chancellor Barnard, assisted by an able faculty, and with the hearty co-operation of the people of Mississippi, the outlook was indeed bright. But war intervened. Today the College of Liberal Arts serves a two-fold purpose: In relation to the professional schools it prepares students in these subjects that are considered most helpful in the pursuit of Medicine, or Law, or the other professions; but the best work it does is to furnish four years of consecutive study through a comprehensive curriculum for the development of self-reliance and ability to use independently and intelligently the facts which have come into one's possession. The one who graduates with a fair measure of distinction has come to know what scholarship means, and is at the same time no stranger to true culture.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

In response to a memorial presented by the Board of Trustees of the University, the legislature, at its regular session in 1854, passed an act amending the charter of the University, thereby establishing a Department of Law. Hon. William F. Stearns, LL.D., of the Holly Springs bar, was elected to fill the Chair of Law and Governmental Science thus created. The Civil War closed the Law School, together with the balance of the University. In 1867 the Law School was reorganized with Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar as Professor of Law. Col. Lamar served in this capacity for three years, when he resigned to enter Congress. In 1874, Judge Edward Mayes, a most distinguished alumnus, succeeded Judge Walton and served with distinction as Professor of Law from 1874 to 1892. Judge Albert Hall Whitfield was then elected to the Chair of Law and served for a period of two years, when he was elected Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Mississippi. Judge Whitfield was followed in the School of Law by Governor Garvin D. Shands. Governor Shands later resigned and became Dean of the Tulane School of Law. The office of Dean of the School of Law was created during the administration of Governor Shands and he became the first dean. Hon. Thos. H. Somerville, of Winona, Miss., in 1896, was selected by the Board of Trustees to fill one of the Chairs of Law, and upon the resignation of Governor Shands became dean. Professor Somerville served until about 1910, when he resigned to enter into active practice at Oxford, Miss. He is Dean Emeritus at this time. Dr. Leonard J. Farby became the next dean of the school. Judge D. M. Kimbrough retired from the School of Law in 1920, when Judge T. C. Kimbrough, of West Point, Miss., was elected in his place. Dr. Farley died during the summer of 1921, and Judge T. C. Kimbrough was elected by the Board of Trustees as Dean. Hon. William Hemingway, of Jackson, Miss., was elected Professor of Law in 1921, and is still serving in that position. From 1921 to 1928, the School of Law has grown considerably in the number of students, and its work and requirements greatly enlarged. It now requires three years residence work to secure the Degree of LL.B., and before the student is eligible to enter the School of Law he must have to his credit not less than two full years of college work. The School of Law is now in all respects fully abreast of the leading law schools of the nation.

SCHOOL OF WOMEN

By DEAN EATMAN

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees in June, 1882, it was decided to open the doors of the University to women. The year 1885 numbered women in its graduating class, and a woman won first honors in that year. The type of womanhood produced by co-education at the University of Mississippi is notably sane and practical, as well as idealistic and unselfish. In a recent survey of public education in Mississippi, Professor M. V. O'Shea has this to say of co-education at the University: "It seems that the problems arising out of co-education would be less serious in Mississippi than in some other states because of the chivalric attitude which Mississippi men assume toward women. It appears that Mississippi would probably derive all the advantages without suffering any of its disadvantages." The Dean of Women recommends that girls enter the University of Mississippi in their freshman year.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

By DEAN DORROH

In 1865, a Chair of Physics, Astronomy, and Civil Engineering was organized in the University, and General Alexander P. Stewart took charge as its head. Two years later this work was divided and General Francis A. Shoup was placed in charge of Civil Engineering. On the resignation of General Shoup in 1868, the work was discontinued, but was resumed in 1872 at the instance of Claudius W. Shears and continued for three years. In these early days the courses in Engineering measured well up to the standards of the time. The subjects treated included Drawing, Surveying, Mechanics, Materials of Engineering, Framed Structures, Masonry, Highway Construction, etc. No courses in Engineering were offered after 1875 until 1890, when the present school was organized under the direction of Dr. Alfred Hume, Professor of Mathematics. From the beginning this school has stood for high entrance requirements, strong courses based on the mathematical sciences, and the highest standards of scholarship in the pursuit of the courses. Practically all of the graduates have entered the practice of engineering and filled positions of responsibility. Many have attained distinction. Complete courses in Civil and Electrical Engineering are given.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

By DEAN SHAW

The School of Education had its origin in 1893, when a chair of Pedagogy was established with James W. Barnard as professor. The establishment of this department came about as a result of the general demand over the entire country for professionally trained teachers. From this beginning the School of Education was fully evolved in 1903, and became one of the professional schools of the University, of which there are now six. Its chief function is the preparation of teachers for secondary schools. This school has steadily grown in influence and importance, as is attested by its regularly increased enrollment. At present the enrollment is more than two hundred, which is an increase of approximately four hundred per cent during the last seven years. During the last two years more than eighty per cent of the B.A. graduates have majored in Education and become associated as teachers with the schools of the state. Connected with this school there is a flourishing Education Club of more than a hundred members and also a highly effective placement bureau.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

By DEAN CRIDER

The University of Mississippi School of Medicine was established by the Board of Trustees of the University in June, 1903. It has held membership in the Association of American Medical Colleges since 1904, and is classed as "A" grade in the scheme of classification devised by the American Medical Association. The school gives the first two years of the regular four-year medical course, and has departments of anatomy, bacteriology and pathology, biochemistry, histology and embryology, pharmacology and materia medica, physiology, physical diagnosis and minor surgery. The work given in these courses is recognized by all of the state licensing boards of the United States.

THE SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

By DEAN FASER

The School of Pharmacy had its inception in the fall of 1906, when an enthusiastic member of the profession enlisted the interest of the Board of Trustees in establishing this school. At that time there were eighteen members of the board, and a majority signified their willingness to add the department to the University. The school, in all probability, would have been established in 1907, but for lack of funds. At a meeting of the Board of Trustees on July 1, 1908, the School of Pharmacy was created, and on September 21 of the same year the doors of the school were opened for the reception of students. The alumni of this school now number more than three hundred, and though they are scattered in the different states of the Union, the great majority are located in Mississippi. Dr. John Cassius Meadows in his book, "The Functions of a State University," had the following to say of the School of Pharmacy of "Ole Miss": "The University, through its School of Pharmacy, has rendered a definite service to the state in training students for a profession which is considered necessary to the best interests of the health of every community in the state. The fact that 95 per cent of its graduates chose to become pharmacists places the Pharmacy degree high among the degrees offered by the University in respect to the number of graduates who take up the vocation for which their training was designed to prepare them." During the twenty years of the existence of this school, it has had but one dean.

THE SCHOOL OF COMMERCE AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

By DEAN BELL

The School of Commerce and Business Administration was authorized by the Board of Trustees in September, 1917, and is thus in its eleventh year. Starting from a small beginning, the school has had a steady growth to its present enrollment of about two hundred and fifty for the current session. Schools of this type, found in practically all the leading colleges and universities of the land, have arisen in response to the demand of a rapidly changing civilization. Each age has its peculiar needs for leadership. This age is calling for a type of leadership which cannot be furnished by the old methods of training. Whether for weal or woe, this is an economic age. We must have a leadership trained in the "lore" of the business world if we are to escape the rocks. Business is already a learned profession. The apprenticeship method of training in this new learned profession, just as in the older ones, no longer suffices. No amount of training in the school can eliminate the necessity of practical training in the profession of business any more than in any other profession. But no amount of practice can take the place of the work of this school. The two supplement each other, and, from the nature of the case, the training of the school must proceed. Therefore, these new schools, or departments, are found everywhere.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

By DEAN BON DURANT

The University of Mississippi, for the past thirty years, has given a considerable amount of emphasis to graduate studies, and many students have obtained the M.A. degree which for a number of years has been conferred only in residence. During the past few years the number of graduate students has been steadily increasing, and at the last commencement the degree was conferred upon nine. Recently the Graduate School has been organized as a separate division of the institution, and greater encouragement is given to graduate work than ever before. The University now has a summer term which affords excellent opportunities for graduate work. During the last summer term, forty-one graduate students were in residence. This number, with added facilities at the University, will undoubtedly rapidly increase. Teachers in increasing numbers are appreciating the importance for additional study beyond the Bachelor's Degree, and the Graduate School of the University affords them this opportunity.

HOMER HAZEL

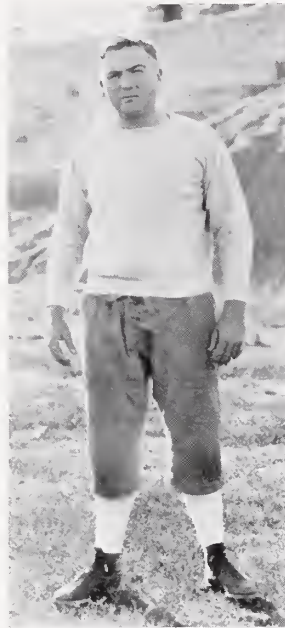

Coach Homer Hazel

This is the third year of Homer Hazel's directorship of athletics at Ole Miss. Being All-American twice in his collegiate days at Rutgers has given him the training which has so visibly shown itself in the 1927 season. The mentor of the gridiron has raised the standing of Ole Miss' prowess in athletics from obscurity to among the strongest in the Southern Conference. The Ole Miss aggregation cinched the seventh place in football, the championship in basketball, and a very good showing in baseball. Would that we could have boasted of this several years ago!

Employing a new system in coaching, Hazel has as his assistants former students of Ole Miss, Webster Burke, Robert Davis, and T. J. Lily, who are partly responsible for the successes of this football season.

"TIE" LILY

Lily in Action Against the Vols

FOOTBALL

Registering five victories, three losses, and one tie to accumulate a total of 177 points to their opponents' 80 during the 1927 football season, the "Mighty Mississippians" completed the most successful grid season that has ever been enjoyed at Ole Miss in the history of its athletic activities. Not only did these mighty gridsters, who so dauntlessly fought an uphill battle to climb from a zero conference rating, as a result of successive losses to Tulane and Tennessee, to the pedestal on which they were automatically placed by defeating L. S. U. and A. & M., two of the Conference's strongest teams—not only did they establish a record of which Ole Miss is proud, but they gained for themselves, their state, and their Alma Mater, Southern if not national recognition. Truly have they established their worthiness of the designation, "Mighty Mississippians."

Opening the season with a regular landslide, the Red and Blue completely overwhelmed the College of the Ozarks, taking as remuneration for their hour's work the big end of a 58 to 0 score.

But only a week later fickle fate transferred her smiles from the Red and Blue ranks to those of the Green Wave (Egad, the Old Lady must be color blind), and the Tulane lads won the tilt by a 19 to 7 score.

Woodruff Gaining Against A. & M.

On probably the muddiest gridiron that a game has ever been played and still called football, the Hendrix College eleven was able to hold the Mississippians to a 0-0 tie. Jupiter Pluvius was not as friendly as he might have been.

The University of Tennessee, one of the strongest teams ever produced in the Southern Conference, handed the Red and Blue gridsters a defeat to the tune of 21 to 7. (At this point exennt all unauspicious gods.)

Then came the climax or turning point of the 1927 Ole Miss grid season. Shutting out the Southwestern Lynx by the impressive score of 39 to 0, the "Mighty Mississippians" apparently hit their stride—and the Bluff City was "took" by the jubilant Red and Blue students and supporters.

Sojourning for a day or two in the cool breezes of the Cumberland Mountains, the Mississippians attacked the Sewanee Tigers in the very center of their lair—and the fierce talons of the angry feline were not sharp enough or alert enough to halt the fighting Magnolia boys in their final rush to victory. And the victory was Ole Miss, 28 to 14.

Coming to the campus for our Home-Coming celebration, and acclaimed one of the highest bidders for Southern championship honors, the L. S. U. Tigers met the same fate as did the Tigers who preceded them by a week. Ole Miss handed the Purple Tigers a 12 to 7 licking, allowing them two and taking for themselves fifteen first downs. "Those damn Ole Miss boys just played football, that's all," said Coach Donajue.

The following week in Jackson the Chicago Loyola aggregation managed to eke out a 7 to 6 victory over the Ole Miss eleven.

Finally, in the classic of the state and one of the outstanding classics of the South, before a crowd of some 14,000 people, the "Mighty Mississippians" fought like demons to defeat for the second consecutive year the Mississippi Aggies, by the score of 20 to 12. In this tilt the Red and Blue gridsters attained football perfection par excellence; and nothing more need be said than the phrase much quoted by exponents and opponents: "Ole Miss just had the best team, and that's all."

THE CHEERLEADERS

Charles Pigford, head cheer leader; Cary Stovall, assistant, and Freshmen Riddell and Dorroh have kept that indomitable Ole Miss spirit going in our darkest minutes as well as our most enthusiastic hours.

Captain Austin Applewhite

In closing his career on the gridiron, "Ap" closed the career of one of the greatest ends to ever don the Red and Blue. Our opponents will rejoice while we mourn the loss of Captain Austin Applewhite.

Sollie Cohen

The fact that "Jew" was selected on the much-heralded All-Southern Senior team, and that he was winner of the Norris Trophy bespeaks his importance on the gridiron. Always a demon on leading plays and a stone wall on defense, Cohen was one of the outstanding fullbacks in Dixie.

VANN

"Pit's" popularity is attested by his being elected to captain the 1928 team. As a tackle, Vann has few equals and no superiors. We forecast a great year for him in his remaining year on the team.

SMITH

As a field captain, "Smittie" has no peer. Completing his grid career this year, V. K. Smith was acclaimed by sport writers as one of the South's greatest guards. Ole Miss will suffer by his absence in the 1928 grid games.

LAIRD

Despite a more or less serious injury throughout the season, DeWitt was an outstanding center. Whenever called upon for service, Laird never failed to give a commendable account of himself.

BLANKENBAKER

With one more year to play, "Lodi" already has about as good a reputation as a guard as any man in the Southland. Built low and "from the ground up," Blankenbaker has the statue of a formidable guard—and a formidable guard he is.

HEMPHILL

Archie is one of Ole Miss' most valuable athletes. Playing on the varsity for his first time this year, Hemphill played the first four games like a veteran tackle. Then he was hurt in scrimmage—and Ole Miss was loser.

ENOCHS

A good, hard-fighting, capable center describes Enochs. Wearing the Red and Blue for his last time, this stalwart center was a strong factor in winning many of Ole Miss' victories.

WALKER

"Hubby" Walker is one of the greatest all-round athletes ever developed at Ole Miss, and his ability on the gridiron is by no means excelled by his ability in other athletic activities. Cool, collected, and possessed of uncanny judgment, he was an invaluable asset to his team.

SMITH

Versatility is "Tad's" chief attribute. Brokenfield running, passing, and serving as quarterback seem to be second nature with Smith. Although hurt most of the season, he got in shape to render service in the Aggie-Ole Miss game that only "Tad" could do.

BURNETT

"The best tackle I ever saw in a uniform," is the description one man who is a good judge of football players gave to "Dump" Burnett. And "Dump's" playing doesn't belie this statement.

LILY

Speed, "guts," and ability—that's Sale Lily on the gridiron. As a halfback, his fleetness makes him with few peers; and as a quarterback his ability to run the team and his judgment of plays stamp him an out-tanding player.

ABDO

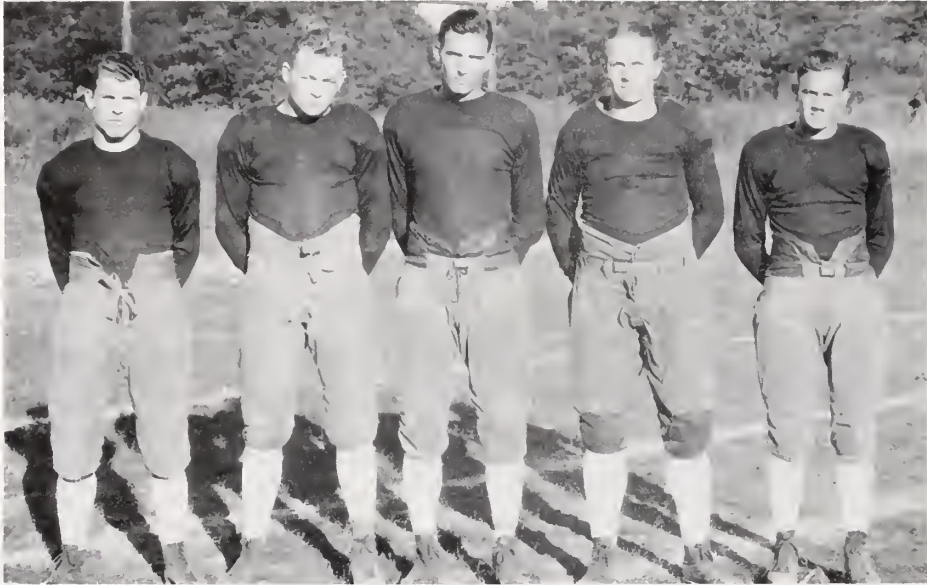

Perhaps the smallest man on the squad is Abdo, but his size is his only handicap. As a reserve quarterback, Nick was ever ready and rearin' to go.

MORRIS

A sophomore of speed as well as size, Morris is a guard who is dependable and capab'e. Participating in nearly every game the Red and Blues played, Bill has performed in such manner as to warrant the speculation that he will be a regular next year.

KNAPP

"Duck" was an obscure reserve until necessity placed him in action at Sewanee. It was then and there that he made his crown of glory on the gridiron. His playing was consistent and reliable, so watch out for Knapp in 1928.

WILCOX

Although "Rube" is only a soph, he was among the leading Conference scorers this year. Punting, passing, and running, Wilcox played like a man who had seen several years' service instead of one who was playing his first year.

PATTY

Seizing his opportunity, "Pete" took advantage of his being shifted from the backfield to end and earned a regular berth on the eleven. He turned in many good performances for the Red and Blue.

WOODRUFF

One hundred ninety pounds of brawn, unusual speed, and plenty of stamina is "Cowboy" Woodruff. One of the sensations on the gridiron this year, Woodruff has developed into one of the leading backs in the South. His outstanding contributions were in the L. S. U. and A. & M. games.

JUMPER

Spunky, consistent, and speedy is an apt characterization of Junper. Playing his first college game against the College of the Ozarks, "Zeke" was one of the strong factors in the 58 to 0 victory.

Freshman Football Squad

COACH ALLEN

The Freshman Football Squad

Went through a most successful season, and among their ranks may be seen some of Ole Miss' stellar players next year. There is quite a bit of most unusual material in this group, as was evidenced by several sensational players. Coach Charley Allen, a former Ole Miss student, put them through a season of no defeats and had as some of their opponents the freshman classes of Louisiana State University, Southwestern, Memphis, and the Tupelo aggregation, T. M. I.

Team of Destiny Wins It—Great Rally Turns Tide

By MORGAN BLAKE

Ole Miss, the Team of Destiny, is champion of the South in basketball. A fighting clan that refused to surrender when the clouds were blackest today is king of the great indoor game.

It was an amazing and courageous comeback that won the title for Ole Miss after Auburn had taken a twelve-point lead in the second half and seemed as sure of winning as anything in this uncertain world can be.

The score at one stage of the second half was, Auburn 25, Ole Miss 13. The thousand or more Auburn students and alumni in the auditorium were in the seventh heaven of delight.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

They smelled the bacon frying and they knew the feast was for them. The Tigers had been outplaying their enemies all the way through, and were marching on to glory and fame. Some of the spectators were yawning a bit. Many were a bit sorry for Ole Miss, and hoped they would make just a few more points so as not to be humiliated.

And then—Captain Robert M. Lee, the long, lanky leader of the Mississippians, rallied his clan for a final desperate drive. It was the last charge of the old guard. Up the slope they came, snarling, growling, fighting their way through all obstacles. The Tigers, surprised by the sudden fury of a team that had been so docile, wavered before the charge. Doggedly they fought back, but the storm engulfed them. The Team of Destiny was on its way. Two points, two points, two points! With monotonous regularity Ole Miss was sinking them. Now they are just two points behind. Now they are even. Now they are two points ahead. And it's a minute and three-quarters to play. Captain Lee fouls, and Auburn shoots a free throw. Now it's Ole Miss, 31; Auburn, 30.

The seconds were about gone. Down the floor comes Auburn with the last spring left in the Tiger. A desperate try for a goal that goes wild. The pi-tol cracks. The game is over. The Team of Destiny had won by one little point, which, however, was as big as Stone Mountain so far as the effectiveness of it was concerned.

The grim gods of fate who had given Auburn one-point victories over Clemson and Georgia Tech in the early games of the tournament deserted the Tigers in the big crisis, and smiled upon the opposition. The grim gods often do things like that.

Theta Beta

Here's one bunch of rowdies that hasn't scratched yet. They are as many miles from a charter as A. & M. is from the football championship. A few more years and they will give up hope—if they ever had any. They're still 100 per cent athletic, their only social outburst being the recent altar-ation of one Mr. "Jelly" Collier.

Phi Pi Phi

Not satisfied with Mr. Levie, they had to take Mr. Hudson. One mistake often leads to another. But at least they got a charter—though that may have been a mistake, too. Certainly that sputtering name was a mistake. These boys ought to take Apollo as their patron god. Then there'd be something worth looking at in dear ol' Fy Py.

Kappa Sigma

With the passing of the great McDougal, this has been a docile herd. Moreover, they seem to have lost the good old Craig enthusiasm. In fact, they seem to have lost hope. Certainly there's been no rumor of a Kappa Sig candidate for student body president.

Alpha Tau Omega

These newcomers have become the Don Juans of the campus. Witness such heart busters as "Tadpole" Smith, Roger Alford, and Jesse Fox. Denton House belongs to them—if there's any satisfaction to be had from the ownership. Friendly with the Phi Mu's and not hostile to the Kadies.

Sigma Nu

Another of the Big Four—or was it Forty? Anyhow, there's Gordon Roach, newly climbed into social prominence, and very well liked about the Dorroh mansion. These are the boys who gave a formal banquet back in the fall, at which there were three Tuxedos, four overalls, and sixteen pajamas.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Introducing Adelbert Crisler, gents. Little Adelbert, the dashing transfer from L. S. U.—or was it Raymond High? But he's not the fault of the local lodge, so why blame him on it? These boys rival their namesakes, the lowly Kappa Alpha, for the best blood at A. & M.—if there is any.

Alpha Delta Mu

We have it on good authority that these lads have formed a conspiracy to seize the political throne at Ole Miss. Already they are getting men into high places. The great Adams-Everett combination, working in cahoots with the Horne-Pack combination, promises the dumb brothers political glory for years to come. With bared head, the ancient Fortenberry battles against their intrigue—but in vain. By the way, they're still petitioning something or other.

Phi Epsilon

Catchings brought this about—and still holds up his head. Fannie Black Ladd, the Indian love caller, is the great activity man. Ex-freshman Gaines is runner-up, with a fair chance of supplanting Blind Jim as Dean of Freshmen. All considered, this is a deserving bunch of fellows, but we hope they really don't get what they deserve.

Pi Kappa Phi

The more they come, the worse they get. This would be bad, though, even if it had come first. Byrd Prentiss Mauldin, the High Mogul of Pontotoc County Social Life and barometer for the trend of International Politics, Judas of the Y. M. C. A., is the only man who sees any good in the organization—and he's the lad that invented it. Byrd really isn't non compos mentis; he just acts that way.

Delta Kappa Epsilon

These are the boys who do things. Not ordinary fellows, y'understand, but real MEN. Deeks, y' know, Deeks!! Now take f'rinstance, there's Marvin Bond. He lives in Holly Springs. That's exceptional, y'know. Not everybody can live in Holly Springs. And Tom Dunn is over six feet straight up. That's quite above the ordinary, y'understand. Best of all, though, there's Conwell. Exceptional? Hell, yes! By the way, Dunn's henchman, Westbrook, is a Deek. Oh, boy!

Delta Psi

Excerpt from the conversation of William A. Lomax: "That's very true, of course, and I'll grant you all of that, but Delta Psi . . . because Delta Psi . . . and Delta . . . Psi . . . if Delta Psi . . . but Delta Psi . . . although Delta Psi . . . then, too, Delta Psi . . . therefore, Delta Psi," etc., etc., ad nauseum. This is the secretest secret secret society on the campus; for instance, they don't let their pledges wear pledge buttons because they're ashamed of them, etc. But they make up for that after they have been initiated by making them put their pins in their mouths when they are nude—as if someone wanted the pins that bad!

Sigma Chi

As Jimmy Lott so aptly telegraphed the chapter a week or so before pledge day: "Congratulations on getting so-and-so." Or as the Mississippian just as aptly said: "If pledging unsuspecting freshmen the first day or two of school makes a good fraternity, watch old Sigma Chi roll!" "We rush for numbers—not quality," says Alton P. Perkins, and he ought to know, because he was the "Eric Dawson" of good ole Sigma Chi.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Weep for Eric, for he has gone! These boys really do need their god-mother back again. They've completely forgotten that a frat is supposedly secret. "What's my business is thy business," they remark to the whole dern world. Besides trying to get a good majority in the Freshman Class, so as to cinch the presidency of said class, they are trying to get twenty million S. A. E. voters by 1932 for the national Presidential race.

Phi Delta Theta

Introducing Meesta Bobbee Burns, who, having set Mississippi College on fire, now comes to the University to duplicate. The self-appointed savior of the morals and minds and likewise the spurrut of the Ole Miss student body. "I do not choose to run—now let us give fifteen rahs for Burns." Then there's dear, plump little Scottie, who's here to prove that a man can be down but never out. "Oh, yes, we have the two most popular he-men on the campus, Ogden and Lott." The pride of old Phi!

Delta Tau Delta

This is a club of individualists. No two alike, and we guess that's fortunate. Yet they hold their own, figuratively, at co-edding. Witness the following successes: Green-Brumfield, Luckett-Johnson, Caldwell-Brinson, and Hathorn-Anybody. Stovall, the affable and graceful assistant cheer leader, is their great activity man. Although weak in numbers, watch our dust!

Kappa Alpha

Now that we have a big green car, our prestige is picking up. Dick Street is the big bad boy of this outfit. So far as records go, he's the only activity man in the club, unless you count Dudley Watts, who fortunately took to travel and kept it up. In Harris and Fontaine, this set of Greeks have a pair that would make any fraternity proud—that they belonged to K. A. "We are graduating all of our active men, that is those that are initiated, but our only pledge shall come back and carry on."

Beta Sigma Omicron

This used to be, and still ought to be, a junior college sorority. As well as the records show, Louise Arrington is responsible for this. Louise always was starting something reckless, and then not staying around to see how it came out. Anyhow, Louise, this isn't doing too well, thank you. Even Fannie Black turned down a bid.

Tau Delta

This organization takes the rainbow for its color—and is just as exclusive as to membership. Bessie McInnis lends a religious element, Lyda Gordon Shivers an oratorical, Joan Conerly a social, Catherine McFarland an intellectual, Nellie Hathorn an athletic—and dashing young Mr. Winter lends prestige. We hope to be firmly established with a national some day—it doesn't matter which one.

Delta Delta Delta

These are the activity girls, who glory in bringing on Alpha Theta Chi—whatever that means to them. Now just for instance, who set Ward Hall on fire? Wasn't it a Tri-Delt? Sure, with a little light bulb! They're just as prominent in other respects, though it's a little hard to recall them all at once.

Kappa Delta

Organized by the intellectual Miss Lellar, these girlies show their appreciation by getting on the Faculty Black List. But they've really got better things to do than mull around over dull studies. If you don't believe they're sociable, take one out! That is really their strong point. Page Mr. Patty!!!

Kappa Sigma Tau

As the great philosopher Hegel remarked (or maybe it was only Dr. Kennon): "It is not what you are that counts; it's what you think you are." And therein lies hopes for these lasses. Of course they're new. Just founded in 1922. Maybe by 1942—but why be critical?

Delta Gamma

The pride of Oxford. Half the ladies of the city belong to this club; otherwise it might languish for lack of membership. At least the Dee Gees have a glorious past, whatever its present prospects may be. Margaret Jones, the lady lawyer, is the most outstanding pledge, viewed from any angle.

Chi Omega

Oh, dear me, no! How utterly absurd! Why of course we did not take Mrs. Eatman for her influence! We took her for her—her—well, anyway, "when better cars are built, Buick will build them." Yes, and when better girls come, Chi Omega will take them. Bumped seven times? Yes, but you see, it was this way—

Phi Mu

Formerly the House of Denton, till they started checking out. First went Martha Weathers. Jesse Fox just couldn't hold her. Then went Dabney Carson, Queen of Clarksdale, now married to Hon. Pinkie Bledsoe, planter. Who went next we didn't notice—nor care. But back comes Carolyn Newsom—and under such sad circumstances! We are led to ask the question, What won't a Phi Mu do?

EARL T. THOMAS

Earl T. Thomas, elected by popular student vote as 'The Student Who Has Meant the Most to Ole Miss. In other words, he has been selected as the most outstanding on the University campus. The Student Body has placed on his capable shoulders the following responsible positions:

President of the Associated Student Body
President Junior Literary Class
President Freshman Class
University Athletic Council.

He has won for himself the Mississippi Intercollegiate Oratorical Medal; winner of the Freshman Oratorical Medal; the Debating Team, and has interested himself in all worthwhile activities.

Jokes

"Have you heard the new traveling salesman joke?"

"Yep, heard 'em all."

"Naw, you haven't; 'cause this farmer lived by himself."

* * *

A sign was posted on the door of Dean Bell's office which read: "Back in half an hour."

A few minutes later a student added a line: "What for?"

* * *

STEPS OF SOPHISTICATION

Freshman: "I don't know."

Sophomore: "I am not prepared."

Junior: "I do not remember."

Senior: "I don't believe I can add anything to what has been said."

* * *

"Great gosh, in an impenetrable forest," murmured the inebriate, as he collided with the same lamp post for the third time.

* * *

She was just a tailor's daughter, but she gave me a fit.

* * *

He whose laugh lasts, has told the joke.

Reformer: "Young man, do you realize that you will never get anywhere by drinking?"

Stewed: "Ain't it th' truth? I've started home from this corner five times already."

* * *

She: "Stop!"

He: "I won't!"

She (with a sigh of relief): "All right, I've done my duty."

* * *

We have just heard of the absent-minded professor who turned on his wife and kissed the ignition.

* * *

"The only two who can live as cheap as one," says the cynic, "are a flea and a dog."

* * *

"Rastus, how come you live so long?"

"Lawd, nigger, coz ah's bo'n so fuh

* * *

Mary Lou: "George broke up my party the other evening. He started to tell a naughty story and I had to send him home."

"Well?"

Mary Lou: "But all the rest followed him home to hear the end of it."

Jokes

It isn't only the bootlegger, who is cashing in on prohibition, but a lot of his customers as well.

* * *

"Sir, I believe you're trying to kiss me!"

"Well, now that you understand, suppose we quit assaulting each other and co-operate a little."

* * *

Inscription on a Tombstone: "Here Lies an Atheist. All Dressed Up and Nowhere to Go."

* * *

"What made you laugh so at Bob's funeral?"

"Bob didn't believe in heaven or hell, and he was terribly dressed up not to be going somewhere."

* * *

Catchings: "Who hit you in the nose?"

Dick Street: "Hit me hell! I got drunk and thought I was a woodpecker."

* * *

They say that a single oyster will lay from one to eight million eggs a year."

Nancy: "Gosh! Think of the married ones!"

There was a young lady named Cassy,
Who thought she looked pretty classy.

An impertinent sot

Said, "Oh, look, you forgot
When you dressed to put on your—Oh, my goodness gracious!"

* * *

Ruth: "Do you still run around with that little blonde?"

Dave: "She's married now."

Ruth: "Answer my question."

* * *

Men are getting more virtuous every day. Some of them even require their stenographers to be able to write on a typewriter.

* * *

History Professor: "Who sunk the battleship Maine?"

Frosh: "I don't know, sir; I didn't."

Prof.: "That will do for you."

Member of Board of Trustees (visiting): "Don't let him off; I believe he did do it."

Young Husband (to nurse): "Quick, am I a father or a mother?"

* * *

Lady: "Billy Sunday is marvelous. He has already converted thousands since he started preaching."

Gent: "He isn't in it with Henry Ford. He shakes the hell out of millions every day."

Jokes

Whiz: "What ish a triple threat?"
Kee: "Tha'sh easy. Wine, women,
'n' song."

* * *

"You should drink milk instead of whisky, Mr. Hathorn."
"Why do you shay that, doctor?"
"Milk will make blood."

An Irishman and a Frenchman were disputing over the nationality of a friend of theirs.

"I say," said the Frenchman, "that he was born in France; therefore, he is a Frenchman."

"Not at all," said Pat. "Begorra, if a cat should have kittens in the oven, would you call them biscuits?"

* * *

S. A. E. (beginning a story): "They were both deadly white as they lay there together under the tree. For hours, they—"

Chi Omega (interrupting): "Is this story nice?"

S. A. E.: "Sure, they were a couple of snowballs."

"A fellow wrote a letter to me and said that he would kill me if I don't stop flirting with his wife."

"Well, you'd better stop flirting with his wife."

"That leaves me in a terrible fix. He didn't sign his name."

* * *

Bashful: "Do you mind if I kiss
you?"

(No answer.)

Bashful: "Would you care if I kissed
you?"

Wise Sister: "Say, do you want me to promise not to bite?"

* * *

A young married couple started out with the baby to buy a baby carriage.
They purchased one, put the baby in it and were wheeling it along the street, when they became conscious of the smiles of the passersby and wondered thereat until they got home, when they noticed that the clerk had omitted to remove the sign from the carriage. It read: "Our Own Make."

* * *

Judge: "What is your name?"

"Pluto": "Donald."

Judge: "I mean your full name."

"Pluto": "It's Donald, just the same as when I'm sober."

* * *

"If you were my husband, I'd give you poison."

"If you were my wife, I'd take it."

University of Mississippi

The University comprehends seven divisions, as follows:

The College of Liberal Arts, founded in 1848, embracing work in more than twenty departments leading to the B.A. and M.A. degrees;

The Law School, founded in 1854, offering a course requiring three years for completion;

The School of Engineering, founded in 1900, covering four years of a standard engineering course;

The School of Education, founded in 1903, meeting the needs of all who intend to teach in the schools of the State;

The School of Medicine, founded in 1903, providing a thorough course of two years, constituting the first two of the usual four years in Medicine;

The School of Pharmacy, founded in 1908, affording a three years' course leading to the degree "Pharmaceutical Chemist," and a four years' course leading to the degree B.S. in Pharmacy;

The School of Commerce and Business Administration, founded in 1917, offering a four years' course leading to the degree B.S. in Commerce.

The location of the University is unsurpassed in point of healthfulness and beauty.

Expenses are very moderate.

We Believe That Thinking People Should Ponder These Truths

Public Utilities render services that are essential to modern living standards.

These services directly contribute to the convenience and comfort of people hourly each day. They have raised living standards, brought us up to a new plane of material existence; and are, in fact, the agencies by which modern living standards are maintained.

Without these services, present-day conditions would be turned backward half a century, and we would revert to the days of the tallow candle and the ox-drawn cart.

In addition to their contribution to the convenience and comfort of people so constantly, utilities are economic factors of important worth to their communities—stimulating channels of trade and business activities with their large pay-rolls and immense purchases of supplies, as well as being large tax-payers helping to defray expenses of government.

These are facts that educated people should understand.

SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY

There are many traditions and customs of the Old South that have been handed down from generation to generation. These traditions of the old are cherished and are part of the new. Among those traditions that have been listed on history's pages is that of Southern Hospitality, and truly no other tradition can portray the Southland in a more glorious way.

NUNNALLY'S, to commemorate this tradition, have created "The Southern Hospitality Assortment," the choicest selection of fluffy nut rolls, tasty pralines, tempting orange brazils, creamy fudges, and many other delicious bits of the old-fashioned candies and confections.

"Southern Hospitality" is packed in a beautiful metal art box, decorated, denoting the period when Nunnally first began the art of candy making. It may be obtained from your dealer in the one- and two-pound sizes at one fifty the pound.

OUR SOUTH

You, who are students at "Ole Miss," have a glorious opportunity to uphold the traditions of the South and to take your place in the remarkable development that is taking place here.

The eyes of the world are focused on the growth of the South—its development industrially, agriculturally, and intellectually. No section of the world has taken such rapid strides as our own South. Consider the weight of the responsibility on your shoulders in upholding the culture and traditions of the Old South and in preparing yourself to take an active part as the sons and daughters of Dixie in the glorious future that is ours. Mississippi and the whole South expect to be proud of you.

IN THE SOUTH

DIXIE PATCH outsells because it is the best patch for tube repairs.

For more than eight years DIXIE PATCH has proven its superiority to thousands of users throughout the South. Today more Southern motorists choose it than any other patch.

DIXIE PATCH costs you no more than ordinary patch. To use it yourself or to specify its use in having your tires repaired is positive assurance that your tires are receiving the best material obtainable—at no increase in cost.
